9. Executive Director Report – Dan Olsen

- Dan Olsen reported that SEMSWA will give logoed water bottles to the staff as a workplace safety reward. There has not been a property claim since early 2019 nor a Worker's Compensation claim since mid-year 2021.
- Brad Sullivan has been promoted to Maintenance Manager.
- Britni Kahler has been promoted to Inspections and Contract Maintenance Manager.
- Dan Olsen introduced two new employees: Jessica Traynor, Floodplain and Master Planning Engineer, and Enrique Juárez, Land Development Engineer.
- Dan Olsen updated the Board on the Hunter's Hill issue, which was discussed at the August Board Meeting. Hunter's Hill is located at Dry Creek and Yosemite, at where a resident's property was flooded during a storm event. The project was with Contract Maintenance and has moved to CIP, and Icon Engineering has been hired to review the project.
- Ashley Byerley reported on the issue with Xcel Energy that was discussed in Executive Session at the August board meeting. SEMSWA is waiting for CDOT to issue a permit for the project to proceed.
- L & M Enterprises, Inc., was engaged to repair the sinkhole near Parker Road and Arapahoe Road.
- SEMSWA is reaching out to CDOT on two pipelining projects along Arapahoe Road and Havana and Arapahoe Road and Peoria and working with the City of Lone Tree and Douglas County where pipes are located in two jurisdictions.
- SEMSWA was awarded the APWA Sustainability Award. Dan Olsen thanked Ashley Byerley for her work on the award submittal.
- SEMSWA was part of the team that won the 2022 Engineering Excellence Award at the Colorado Association of Stormwater and Flood Plain Managers (CASFM) Conference for the Cherry Creek to Iliff corridor. The team that won the award included: Denver, Arapahoe County Open Space, SEMSWA, Mile High Flood District, Colorado Water Conservation Board, and Denver Water. Dan Olsen thanked Molly Trujillo for her work on the project.
- There were two conferences last week. Dan Olsen, Roxi Jones, and Carolyn Frainier attended the SDA (Special District Association) Annual Conference in Keystone. Chair Miller presented at the conference.
- Nine employees from SEMSWA attended the CASFM Annual Conference in Steamboat Springs.

- On Friday, September 23, 2022, SEMSWA will host the Annual Cherry Creek Watershed Conference. Thanks to Ashley Byerley and James Linden who are on that team.

10. Environmental Resources Presentation – Ashley Byerley/James Linden

11. Other Items – Chair Miller

- The next SEMSWA Board Meeting will be held both as an in-person meeting at SEMSWA and virtually via GoToMeeting on Wednesday, October 19, 2022, at 1:30 p.m.

12. Meeting Adjourned by Chair Miller at 2:59 p.m. MDT.
